Hi Claire,

Thank you for getting these to us, and yes, we will rethink our review deadline if you are furloughed. We have also discussed how we might address the upcoming workshop itself, though of course we hope Congress gets its act together much sooner than that.

Best,
Carrie

Carrie & Bobby,

Attached are my changes and comments on the draft meeting summary, which I am giving to you well before your Oct. 3 deadline in hopes that my team and EPA attorney will look at my comments and be inspired to provide their own as well (plus I am going to be on vacation Oct. 2 -7). The main obstacle to that plan is the possible government shutdown, and if that happens, we are not allowed to do any work, not even check email from home, until we are called back to work. Therefore, I don't know if we can get you any more comments by your Fri. Oct. 3 deadline, and I would at least like an EPA attorney to look at it. Would you please extend your due date if we are furloughed?

Hi all,

I hope everyone is enjoying the fall weather, all the better for staying inside and reviewing documents! I have a couple very short ones for you today (with correspondingly short review schedules), attached are:

1. Draft meeting summary for workshop #3 - please review by next Friday, October 4th and provide comments so that we can post a version that accurately reflects our discussion.
2. Draft agenda for workshop #4 - please review by this Friday, September 29 and provide comments on the plan for our next gathering. We set this one up to revisit some issues that we know need more work (Baseline) and to walk through a mock trade that represents our best practices so far, which should help clarify what they all are and how they fit together. We're anticipating that this will also jog our collective memories about other issues that we need to revisit, so we've built in time to discuss them as they arise.

These will be posted on the the project wiki site shortly.

Best,

Carrie
